

Contribution to Training

Sponsored by a new brand; a new HVCA

Awarded for outstanding contribution and achievement, in relation to the important area of personal/professional training and development. The recipient (company or individual) will have demonstrated a commitment to the delivery of good, meaningful training is selected by the BCIA Judging Panel for what they believe is an entry worthy of recognition

Paul Hillman, ECA

Paul Hillman delivers the Building Controls Technical Training courses through the Electrical Contractors' Association (ECA). Paul has played a major role in ensuring that the courses remain relevant and uses his own in-depth knowledge to educate delegates. He always receives excellent feedback from delegates and has helped to ensure the courses are as up-to-date as possible.

Comment from Paul Hillman: The nomination was a pleasant surprise for me and winning the award was a real shock. In teaching it is rare to be actually acknowledged that you are doing a "good job" even though most teachers and trainers are doing exactly that every day, for the industry to promote this idea I am absolutely in favour. The awards help endorse the good efforts, the innovative products and show the fantastic and wonderful people who form part of the controls industry. It was a superb and a wonderful evening, I enjoyed every moment of it. In practical terms I also feel the exposure this event has given me and my award winning colleagues is invaluable. I doubt we could even buy this type of industry awareness and quality of advertising.

Event Sponsors

Skoopr: Building Controls

Phoenix Contact introduces ILC 1x1 compact controllers

GE Intelligent Platforms announces PACSystems RXi

Annealing Services Generate Preferred Qualities Within a Set of Treated Metals

Modern Building Services

Power-shower feeling with a third less water

MITIE to refurbish office to BREEAM 'Very good'

Changes to RHI payments greeted with scepticism